FRESNO, CA — Honor Veteran's Day and meet a new species at Fresno Chaffee Zoo!

The Zoo is celebrating the service of all veterans and active-duty military this Veteran's Day. Those that have served or are currently serving in the military will be granted free general admission to the Zoo on November 11th. Family members of veterans and active-duty military will also receive 50% off general admission to the Zoo for up to two additional tickets on this date.

While exploring the Zoo, guests can also learn about the Zoo's newest resident! Luci is a rescued bald eagle that arrived at the Zoo from Alaska. When she was younger, she sustained an injury in the wild that caused her right wingtip to be amputated, and she can no longer fly. She is estimated to be around 15-years-old today.

Luci has been busy exploring her new home on Eagle Island, across from the entrance to Sea Lion Cove, and guests can now see her on her habitat. Tickets can be found on Fresno Chaffee Zoo's website fcz.org.
